

Ike Suggests $1.8 Billion Budget Cut

Outlines His Plans in Letter To Rep. Rayburn

President Says Other Cuts Depend on Revisions of Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower suggested to Congress today that his requests for appropriations could be cut by some $1,858,000,000.

But he said that substantial reduction in his proposed $71,800,000,000 spending budget for fiscal 1958 "cannot be made" unless Congress revises or repeals certain laws obligating the government to spend specific sums for specific services.

What the President proposes to trim by $1,858,000,000 is the so-called obligatory authority for fiscal 1958. As contained in the budget he presented to Congress in January this is estimated at $73,300,000,000.

If the President's proposals for reducing actual appropriations are carried out, the figure for appropriations or obligatory authority for fiscal 1958 will be almost the same as the estimated spending figure.

He outlined the proposal in a letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex.).

Makes Distinction

Eisenhower held out some hope over the long run for tax cuts, but gave no support for any reductions now.

"Given continuation of healthy economic growth and of strict expenditure control," the President said, reduction in appropriation requests of $1,858,000,000 "will begin to lay a firm fiscal foundation for the time when we can be sufficiently assured that our income will so exceed our expenses as to justify a reasonable tax cut for every taxpayer while we continue to reduce the government's debt."

Eisenhower drew a careful distinction between cutting expenditures proposed in the budget and appropriations requests.

While no substantial reductions can be made in expenditures, he said, there is a "more promising outlook" in reducing requests for new spending authority.

He said budgetary reviews since January have disclosed the feasibility of postponing certain requests "without serious damage to program levels."

The President then suggested these actions, some of which previously have been mentioned:

- Reduction by 500 million dollars of new spending authority for the military assistance phase of the mutual security program.

- Reduction by 200 million dollars of new spending authority for military public works. Less urgent projects could be delayed.

- Reduction by 254 million dollars of new spending authority for the soil bank program. This can be brought about by new projections of the program's operating rate and related financial requirements.

- Reduction of the Federal National Mortgage association's spending authority of 50 million dollars.

- Reduction in new spending authority of 25 million dollars for college housing authorizations.

- Reduction in new spending authority of 13 million dollars thru adjustments of Corps of Engineer construction schedules.

The President also suggested that the House may wish to give attention to an additional item in the budget of 516 million dollars requested for Army procurement and production.

Gets Presidential Ribbing

Edgar Eisenhower Sticks to His Cut-Budget Views After White House Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's big brother Edgar firmly stuck to his cut-the-budget views today despite some White House cooking and a presidential ribbing.

The Tacoma, Wash., lawyer, who caused a sensation Tuesday by calling his brother's $71,800,000,000 budget "too big," attended a stag dinner at the White House Wednesday night. His wife, Lucy, dined upstairs in the mansion with the First Lady.

Afterwards Edgar admitted to reporters waiting for him at his hotel suite that the Chief Executive and their younger brother, Milton, kidded him about his views on the budget.

Not Taking Advice

"But I haven't changed my mind one bit," he said emphatically.

The 68-year-old lawyer, two years older than the President, said his brothers reminded him

"that all expenses have gone up." "Dwight asked me if my office expenses were up," he said. "I said I couldn't tell because I had moved and didn't have any means of comparing."

He said he and Milton, president of Johns Hopkins University, chatted with the President for a while before the dinner.

"They gave me a lesson on how to treat reporters," he said laughingly.

Then, indicating the reporters in his hotel room with a wave of his arm, he added: "If I'd taken their advice none of you would be here right now."

Becoming more serious, he mentioned to a large pile of telegrams on a coffee table.

"I've had a stack of wires and phone calls—all of which have commended me on what I said," he told newsmen. "And up to now nobody has called to criticize me."

Barge Capsizes

Diver Seeks to Reach Six Men Trapped in Mouth of Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A skin diver prepared to try again at dawn today to reach six men entombed in cramped sleeping quarters of a capsized oil drilling barge. Authorities expressed little hope of finding the victims alive.

Towering ground swells foiled repeated attempts of diver Don Inman to reach the submerged deck of the floodlighted "Mister K" with his rubber suit and aqua lung before he abandoned the effort shortly before midnight.

Three crewmen were believed to have drowned immediately when the barge carrying a 100-foot drilling rig on its deck suddenly turned turtle during a storm before noon

Wednesday in the mouth of the Mississippi river.

Six others were saved, five of them without injury. One was hospitalized.

Inman decided "raps" that appeared to come earlier from inside the hull "were just imagination" and no signals from survivors as previously believed.

Inman said no divers could reach the barge in Wednesday night's heavy weather.

"Every time I got near the barge I was washed by the current," he said.

The Coast Guard finally fixed warning lights on the hull and abandoned it until daylight.

Some 30 relatives and friends of the missing crewmen maintained a nightlong vigil at rescue headquarters in Venice, La., about 30 miles from the scene.

The nearly new derrick barge, valued at $1,250,000, was being towed out of the storm-tossed Gulf of Mexico into the calmer mouth of the Mississippi when it suddenly turned bottom up.

Stefko Swears In Successor at Old Shawneetown

Paul Stefko, who was defeated in a re-election bid as mayor of Old Shawneetown, last night swore in his successor, Charles L. Clayton, who was the winner of the election Tuesday.

Stefko stated he had offered to swear in Clayton Wednesday morning before he left for a business trip to Harrisburg, but was asked to return Wednesday night where the swearing in took place at the council meeting in Old Shawneetown.

Stefko also stated, that contrary to recent reports, he was not under bond when he went to Springfield a couple of weeks ago. He had been informed by his bondsman, he said, that she had removed herself from his bond.

King Hussein Consolidates Hold on Jordan

By United Press

King Hussein of Jordan consolidated his hold on the country today, backed by strong Iraqi and Saudi Arabian troop concentrations near his border and by a U. S. promise of aid if attacked.

Hussein, after five days of temporizing, issued a royal decree formally firing Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar, the chief of staff who fled to Syria when Hussein broke a plot to dethrone him.

In his place he named Maj. Gen. Ali Hayyari, one of the Bedouin tribesmen whose loyal support saved the King from the plot. Another Bedouin, Hafez Majjalli, was promoted to major general and made Hayyari's assistant.

At the same time, authoritative Arab sources in Beirut, Lebanon, disclosed how close the Middle East came to war last week. They said Hussein personally delivered an ultimatum on tank-equipped Syrian troop reinforcements to leave the country or be driven out by Iraqi troops and planes.

Syria had sent in 3,000 troops during the Israeli invasion of Egypt. It sent in more when Hussein fired Premier Suleiman Nabulsi, who was pro-Syrian, pro-Egyptian and pro-Soviet. The reports said Hussein met the troops and delivered the ultimatum in person. They withdrew.

Authoritative reports said Hussein was backed up in his formal action against Nuwar by promises of aid from Iraq, his neighbor to the northwest that is ruled by King Feisal, his cousin, and by promises of aid from Saudi Arabia to the south.

He also had before him President Eisenhower's news conference statement of Wednesday that the United States would assist Jordan if it should become the victim of aggression. Middle East sources said the warning was plainly directed toward Syria.

Stricklin Buys Taylor Interest in Clothing Store

Everett Stricklin, local men's clothier, today announced he has purchased the interest of C. E. Taylor in the Stricklin-Taylor clothing store here.

The store will henceforth be known as Stricklin Men's Wear.

Mr. Stricklin, who with his son, Jim, has operated the store since its inception, stated that there would be no changes in store policies or in the quality of the clothing in stock. They will continue to carry the famous brand men's clothing and furnishings which have always been associated with the store, Stricklin said.

Shepherd Gets Treasury Medal

In recognition of Saline county's exceeding its 1956 quota of United States Savings Bonds sales, Harley H. Shepherd, office manager of the Sahara Coal company, and county chairman for the bond program today received the Treasury silver medal for patriotic service.

Saline county citizens purchased $1,787,817.00 of Savings Bonds against a quota of $1,720,000.00.

The 1956 award was presented to Mr. Shepherd at Harrisburg by T. Merle Paul, state director of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division, who praised the effective work of the chairman and his volunteer bond forces.

"The praise should go to the thrifty people of this county who bought the bonds," Mr. Shepherd responded. "They are helping themselves, the community and our country by this regular saving, which helps protect us all against inflation and builds up the backlog of individual reserves to keep business and industry moving ahead, keeps our people working and earning and enjoying unprecedented prosperity. The Savings Bonds program is essential to keeping our money sound."

The medal, designed and coined by the U. S. Mint at Philadelphia, bears the figure of the Minute Man of Concord, symbol of the Treasury volunteer, and the Treasury seal with wording: "U. S. Treasury Award." On the reverse is "For patriotic service, U. S. Savings Bonds program." Engraved on Mr. Shepherd's medal is his name and the year.

Tensions in Jerusalem Cast Shadow Over Christian Holy Week Pilgrimages

By United Press

Christians throughout the world celebrate Easter this week in church and in a variety of traditional ceremonies in homes and outdoors.

But in Jerusalem, where, by Christian teaching, Christ was crucified, buried and rose again from the dead 1,924 years ago, the tensions among Jews and Arabs have cast a shadow over the Christian pilgrimages of Holy Week.

The number of Eastern visitors is the smallest in a long time. Only about 1,500 persons have come from overseas, compared with about 15,000 last year.

But the familiar ceremonies will be observed.

This afternoon a procession makes its way to the room in which Jesus is said to have served the last supper to his disciples. On Good Friday thousands will carry crosses in procession down Via Dolorosa, the route Jesus carried His cross to Golgotha.

On Sunday, sunrise services will be held in both the new and old cities of Jerusalem, with a united service taking place in the garden of the tomb outside the walls of the old city in Jordan.

The Jerusalem newspaper El Jihad reported Wednesday that Jordan has barred the French and Dutch consular corps from crossing into Jordan to take part in the ceremony.

A United Nations spokesman in Cairo said 100 UNEF soldiers would be flown from their posts in Egypt to spend Easter in Jerusalem.

In Rome, capital of the world's 430 million Roman Catholics, thousands of tourists and pilgrims jammed all available hotel space. Pope Pius, who granted an audience to 30,000 pilgrims Wednesday, planned to spend Maundy Thursday in prayer and meditation.

In London, Queen Elizabeth followed ancient tradition today in distributing tokens "Maundy money" to the aged poor of her kingdom. But she broke a 300-year-old custom by taking the ceremony out of London, to St. Albans Abbey.

Death Takes Mrs. Bert Moore

Mrs. Della Ann Moore, 74, of RFD 1, died at 5:05 p. m. Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Kingsley in Centralia. Mrs. Moore had been seriously ill for about a year. She was born to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Allen, near Galatia, and was married in Corona, Calif., Dec. 5, 1903, to Bert Moore who preceded her in death in 1952.

A member of the Bankston Baptist church, Mrs. Moore lived in the Harrisburg community all of her life until last November when she went to Centralia. She is survived by two sons, Ronald Moore of St. Ann, Mo., and W. A. Moore of Benton; two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Rahm and Mrs. Dorothy Kingsley, both of Centralia. Two sons preceded her in death, Hubert Moore who died in 1953 and Dale Moore, who died as a member of the armed forces in Belgium, in 1945. There were two children who died in infancy. There is a brother of Mrs. Moore, Eldon Allen of Harrisburg, surviving, 22 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Bankston Baptist church with Rev. Paul Dann officiating and burial will be in the church cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Gaskins funeral home until the funeral.

Jury Decision After Short Deliberation

Verdict Handed In By Eight Women, Four Men

A circuit court jury, after short deliberation, early this afternoon acquitted County Clerk Don B. Garrison of an embezzlement charge.

The case went to the jury at 11:35 a. m. and the verdict was reached around 1:15 p. m., after the jury had convened at 1 p. m. following an hour for lunch.

The verdict was handed in at 1:30 p. m., when court convened for the afternoon.

Judge Harold L. Zimmerman of Marion turned the case over to the jury of eight women and four men at that time after giving the court's instructions.

Everything but the closing arguments were completed yesterday. These began at 10 a. m. today.

Garrison, who has been named in a number of indictments with embezzling $6,400 in county funds, was tried on a single indictment that charged him with embezzlement of $417 on Sept. 14, 1955.

Says Difficult to Prosecute

State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson, who with his assistant, Harry L. McCabe, directed the prosecution, in his closing statement began by saying that it had been a difficult case to prosecute because he and the defendant had been close friends all their lives.

"We went to school together at Eldorado and he helped me in both my elections," Wilson said, "but we must see that the county government is kept on a high level regardless of feelings."

Wilson brought out that in about the first ten months of the 1954-55 fiscal year Garrison had drawn $6,374.75 while the county board's appropriation ordinance set his pay at $5,500 for the year.

In answering Garrison's testimony yesterday afternoon that he had consulted a half dozen lawyers who said he was entitled to draw the maximum because there had been no resolution specifically fixing the clerk's salary, Wilson said the state's attorney is the legal adviser of county officers and that Garrison had admitted he had not consulted him.

Says Nothing Concealed

"Why did he go to other lawyers when he could have gone to his own state's attorney, or to the county board, about the salary?" he asked. "I'm surprised that one of those Garrison said had told him he could collect $7,500 a year when he could not testify here."

Defense Attorney Joe M. Butler, who said he also was reared with Garrison, pointed out it was admitted that the appropriation called for $5,500 and that Garrison had taken more, but that there should have been another ordinance or resolution setting the salary.

"We contend the defendant did nothing fraudulently," Butler stated. "We say he had a right, or thought he had a right, to take the money. If you jurors believe he was sincere in his belief he had a right to take the money, you have no right to convict him. He concealed nothing."

He said it was up to the state to prove intent and concluded:

"Garrison didn't intend to take the money illegally—it was taken on the belief he had a right to the funds."

Lloyd H. Melton, also a defense attorney, pointed to the law experience of the attorneys Garrison had consulted, praising especially the legal ability of Trafton

In the Spring Before Elections, Thoughts Lightly Turn . . .

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Senators Will Demand Investigation Of Secretary Of The Treasury Humphrey; Humphrey's Firm Owns Stock In Aramco Which Profited From Tax Concessions; Senators Have Security Data Involving Canadian Foreign Minister.

WASHINGTON. — You can write it down as almost certain that Congress will demand an investigation of the cabinet secretary closest to Ike, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, as a result of the tax concessions given to the Arabian-American Oil Co.

The following events and circumstances make the demand inevitable:

1—Secretary Humphrey did not dispose of his stock in the M. A.
Hanna Co. when he took office and this company is now revealed to own $26,885,722 of Standard Oil of N. J. stock. Standard of N. J., a 30 per cent owner of Aramco, greatly benefited from Humphrey's Internal Revenue Service ruling.

2—At the same time Aramco was getting this favorable ruling in one foreign country, Cyrus Eaton has informed senators that his Labrador ore firm got a discriminatory tax ruling in another country. Eaton is in competition with Humphrey's huge M. A. Hanna ore operations in Labrador, and has informed senators that Humphrey's office collected taxes from his company which should have been waived under a tax treaty with Canada banning double taxation.

3—The counsel of the Treasury who passes on these matters for Humphrey is primarily a politician. Fred C. Scribner has been serving as counsel for the Republican National Committee at the same identical time he served as general counsel of the Treasury.
This is unprecedented. Scribner has now been promoted to be assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

4—The counsel of Internal Revenue who initially passes on these matters is Nelson Rose, a member of the Cleveland law firm which represents the M. A. Hanna Co. Rose did not occupy this position when the Aramco tax benefit was ok'd. However, his brother, Chapman Rose, also a member of the firm handling M. A.
Hanna's legal work, was assistant Secretary of the Treasury and one of the closest men to Humphrey.
The tax concession to Aramco permitted that company to pay taxes to King Saud instead of a similar amount to him in royaltities. This saves Aramco about $100,000,000 a year and its parent companies, including Standard of N. J., about $80,000,000.

The interesting fact which senators have dug up is that the contract between Saudi Arabia and Aramco provided that Arabia should not impose a tax of any kind on Aramco. Yet to save Aramco money it was arranged in 1954 that it should pay an income tax to King Saud at the expense of the Treasury Department, where George Humphrey has sworn to be a vigilant tax collector.

WHY CANADA STEAMS

There are a couple of backstage factors the public doesn't know about which makes the Canadians sore as blazes, over Ambassador Norman's suicide and the leak of the Senate Internal Security Committee.

The Canadian government remembers all too vividly how the same Senate committee adopted the same leak tactics back in 1954 and how a protest was lodged with the State Department. The man who best remembers it is the No.

2 man in the Canadian government, Lester Pearson, Minister of Foreign Affairs. He remembers it because the leak involved him.

Back in 1951, Elizabeth Bentley, the confessed Communist agent testified to Senate agents that she had received some Canadian information of which Lester Pearson had been the source.
Later, in 1954, when Attorney General Brownell dug the dust-covered Harry Dexter White matter out of Justice Department files for political purposes, he made public a letter supposedly written by a high Canadian official.

All of this made the Canadians sore. The Canadian press stormed, and the Canadian government made it clear that publication of the letter was a breach of confidence.

On top of this, Senators Jenner and McCarthy proposed bringing Igor Gouzenko, the former Russian code clerk, to Washington to testify in a move interpreted by Canadians as aimed at embarrassing Foreign Minister Pearson.

"The witch-hunting blabbermouths of the United States," commented the Toronto Star, "are apparently after Lester Pearson."

SKEPTICAL CANADIANS
Having known how Canada reacted in the past, senators on the Security Committee together with committee counsel, Robert Morris, had good reason to know that they would stir up another hornet's nest in American-Canadian relations if they released the Herbert Norman data.

Further, the State Department had good reason to know the damage to our important relations with Canada.

Finally the Canadian government takes with more than a large grain of salt the official note of acting Secretary of State Chris Herter, that the Eisenhower administration cannot control a Senate committee. For Canadians recall that it was not the Senate but a member of the Eisenhower cabinet, Attorney General Brownell, who made the first security breach regarding Canada in the Harry Dexter White correspondence. They also recall that it was no later than last summer that the President himself, plus Mr.
Brownell, refused to give the House Government Operations Committee under Congressman Jack Brooks of Texas, certain data regarding the Nicaro contract in Cuba and the part played in its award by GOP Chairman Len Hall.

This information was withheld because it was embarrassing to Chairman Hall on the eve of an election campaign. That's why Canadians can't help figuring that American politics is more important to the Eisenhower administration than relations with its northern neighbors.

WASHINGTON PIPE LINE
Congratulations to Congressman Chet Holifield of California for contracts. . . . McClellan also drop-of the best public relations men, David Charnay. . . . Members of the visiting Polish delegation have told Senator Humphrey of Minnesota that they are afraid to go home—if they fail to bring back substantial American aid. Their failure, they fear would restore the tough Stalin faction of the Communist party to power in Poland, after which they would be sent to concentration camps for "collaborating" with the United States.

Fidelis Class Meets

With Mrs. Norman Yates
The Fidelis Sunday school class of the Gaskins City Baptist church met in the home of Mrs. Norman Yates Thursday evening. Mrs. Flata Potts presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Gene Humphrey.

The meeting opened with singing and Mrs. Brosia Greer led the prayer. Mrs. Robert Vaughn presented the devotion, "Victory over Discouragement." Suggestions were made about improving the Bible school and a meeting scheduled in the future with Rita Humphrey to plan a Mother's Day program. Flata Potts closed the meeting with prayer.

The May meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Carrie Stricklin with Mrs. Potts, hostess.

The June meeting will be a wienner roast and hamburger fry at the home of Mrs. Bob Grounds. Each member brought her baby picture and a guessing game of identification was played.

Present were Mrs. Beulah Vaughn, Miss Effie Armistead, Mrs. Gertrude McClusky, Mrs. Esther Greer, Mrs. Bob Grounds, Mrs. Omigean Frayser, Mrs. Carl Stanley, Mrs. Flata Potts, Mrs. Alice Yates and Mrs. Aline Armistead.

Kupples Class Holds Potluck Dinner: Officers Are Elected

The Kupples class of the First Methodist church met for a potluck dinner at Wesley center Friday. Mrs. Eli Lasersohn had baskets of japonica arranged about the dining room and this gave a festive air to the meeting.

Grace at the meal was said by Otis Youngs and the hosts and hostesses were as follows: Mrs. Evelyn Cummins, Mrs. Bertha Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas. The business meeting opened with a devotion, "The Coming of Spring," presented by Ethel Stain. William Biggers, treasurer, gave a summary of the year's activities. The class teacher, Miss Bernice Patterson, was unable to attend because of a previous engagement. Illnesses were reported in the homes of members and prayers offered for the shut-ins.

Officers elected were: President, J. G. Parkhurst; vice-president, Mrs. Edwin Thompson; secretary, Mrs. Charles Chrisman, and treasurer, William Biggers.

Project committee chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald O'Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Lasersohn and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Cothran. Entertainment committee: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cozart, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Applegate and Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter. Publicity committee: Mr. and Mrs. William Stain and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ragan. Membership committee: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cooley and Mr. and Mrs. John Dameron.

Mrs. Wilma Gideumb was in charge of games and several prizes were awarded.

The meeting closed with prayer led by Mrs. Ray Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Garrison of Danville will arrive tomorrow to visit with Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hancock through Easter. Mrs. Garrison is the former Mary Alice Hancock and the Garrison children, Susan and Tommy, are accompanying their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Applegate, 200 West Park street, are looking forward to Easter visitors who will include their son and family, Dr. and Mrs. Don Applegate and daughter, Susan, Richmond, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Vancil, friends from Carbondale, and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Patterson, Kankakee.

Mrs. R. S. Reinhardt Guest At Coffee Wednesday

Mrs. R. S. Reinhardt of Lincoln, N. C., and her grandson, Steven, were honored with a coffee Wednesday in the home of Mrs. J. V. Capel on South Main street. Mrs. Curtis Small, grandmother of Steven, was hostess with Mrs. Capel.

Among the guests were Steven's mother, Mrs. Ray W. Reinhardt and five of his contemporaries: Lynda and David Cully of St. Louis, Mo., accompanying their mother, Mrs. Harold Cully; Mike and Gregory Guard of Pontiac, and their mother, Mrs. David Guard; and John Polk Craver and his mother, Mrs. Nolen C. Craver Jr. of Homer. Mrs. Martha Best of Las Vegas, Nevada, also attended.

The small gathering of friends and neighbors was filled with admiration for the small guests who ranged in age from a few months to two years, there was neither a single tear shed or a cry heard during the visits.

Ms. Robert Morris, Jane, Marilee and Robin, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shell and Mrs. Nelson Morris on South Granger street. Mr. and Mrs. Morris came to Harrisburg from Cleveland, Ohio, last Sunday and will return to their home this week end.

Pan-American Games Awarded To Guatemala

DETROIT (AP) — The city of Cleveland was without hope today of bringing the long-sought Pan-American Games home to its thousands of track and field fans. Pan-American Games committee President Douglas Roby has formally awarded the Olympic event to Guatemala City, Guatemala, following a decision Wednesday by Cleveland Mayor Anthony Celebrezze to vacate the city's bid for the games.

Roby said he received a telegram from Celebrezze which said that Cleveland had been unable to obtain congressional approval of a five million dollar appropriation to help the city build stadium facilities to stage the event. According to Roby, Celebrezze said that Cleveland would have to give up its plans, but stood ready to welcome the games should Congress reverse itself on the no-money decision.

Diplomats Report U. S., Britain, France are Still Pledged in Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France are still pledged to take immediate action to prevent violation of frontiers or armistice lines by either Israel or the Arab states, diplomats said today.

The big three pledge, signed in 1950, was weakened by the British-French invasion of Egypt last Oct. 31, but diplomats of the three powers are trying to strengthen the agreement and put it back on the pre-invasion footing.

President Eisenhower said Wednesday the May 25, 1950, three-power declaration is one of two ways the United States could act to assist a victim of Middle Eastern aggression. The declaration would apply in event of an "Israel-Arab dispute," the President said.

Under terms of the 1950 three-power declaration the United States, Britain and France pledged their opposition to a Middle Eastern arms race. The declaration added:

"The three governments, should they find that any of these states was preparing to violate frontiers or armistice lines, would . . . immediately take action, both within and outside the United Nations, to prevent such violation."

In practical terms the Big Three presumably would take "action" first through the United Nations. This was the procedure followed by the United States in the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Judas betrayed Jesus for a few pieces of silver. The other disciples deserted Him in His hour of greatest hardship. Even Peter denied that he was an associate and friend of the Master.

Today many of us are critical of the twelve. We hold ourselves above such treachery and mistreatment of the One who died on the cross. In reality, we are no different from the disciples or the others who accepted His blessing prior to His trial.

Time has not changed the teachings of Jesus, nor has it changed men. We are still weak. We still follow the crowd. We still desert God when temptation leads us to be one of the crowd. Instead of trying to lose ourselves in the multitudes we could do well to find ourselves in God's salvation.

Denial of the truth will follow us and plague us. We cannot hide ourselves within the crowd. We can only repent, receive salvation and begin to live changed lives.

Garrett Heads Galatia High School Board

Virdon Garrett was elected president of the Galatia high school board of education at an organizational meeting held this week.

John Boyett is the new vice president and N. R. Gullic, not a member of the board, was re-appointed secretary.

Other members of the Galatia high school board of education are John W. Davis, Ewing Flannigan, Terry Fowler, Paul Droit and Thomas Weight. Mr. Boyett and Mr. Weight are the newly-elected members of the board.

Jack Large, Galatia high school principal, announces vacancies on the faculty for music and mathematics instructors and anyone qualified and interested in teaching at Galatia may contact Mr. Large at the office of the Galatia high school.

Cincinnati Hurting As Ted Kluszewski Suffers Aching Back

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ted Kluszewski's aching back had the Cincinnati Redlegs hurting all over today as they sought their first victory of the new National League season against the Milwaukee Braves.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts revealed Wednesday that the slugging first baseman experienced sharp pain during Tuesday's opener in Cincinnati and that it is "on a day-to-day" basis whether he can play.

"I'm leaving it up to him as to when he thinks he can do a good job for the club," Tebbetts said. "It depends on how he comes along. We had a talk and that's what we decided."

Girl Scout King Coal Council Holds Meeting at Presbyterian Church Here

Harrisburg was host to the King Coal Council of Girl Scouts Tuesday, April 16. Luncheon was served in the dining room of the Presbyterian church, followed by a business meeting.

The newly elected president, Mrs. Frank Helper, Johnston City, opened the session by calling upon everyone to repeat the Girl Scout Promise. After introductions, minutes were read, and reports from the various chairmen and committees were given. Mrs. Harry Dubets was introduced as the new field director who will assist Miss Mabel Webb, director of Scout activities of the King Coal Council.

The Saline County Neighborhood was complimented on the success of the special events program for March, the Mother and Daughter box social.

Plans are completed for the summer camp at Little Grassy lake and registration will begin April 15. Parents of Girl Scouts are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to send their girls to an outstanding Girl Scout camp, and to get their registration folders in the mail early.

The King Coal Council will send three delegates to the National Council and convention in the fall. Since the delegates and alternates must be elected at the May meeting, council members from each neighborhood are asked to send in names for possible delegates.

Among the 42 council members and guests attending the luncheon were representatives from each of the five counties which make up the King Coal Council, Perry, Franklin, Jackson, Williamson, and Saline.

Council members present from Saline county were Mrs. James Barker, Mrs. Glen Muckley, Eldorado, and Mrs. George Robertson, Mrs. Ronnie Doerge, Mrs. Leland Cutting, Mrs. Larry Neff, Mrs. E. J. Thompson, Mrs. Eugene Morris, Mrs. K. C. Capel, Mrs. Ralph Billman, and Mrs. J. R. Hunter from Harrisburg.

The next board meeting will be at noon May 12 at the Veterans Haven. Reservations should be sent to Mrs. Frank Hepler by Friday, May 17.

By Ida R. Coy
Mrs. and Mrs. Carroll Davis and Mrs. Olivia Wenner and son, David, were visitors here with the Davis Sisters Sunday.

Mrs. Howard Buckner of Los Angeles, Calif., who has been visiting relatives in St. Louis for the past three weeks, came to Eldorado Thursday of last week to visit her mother, Mrs. Nell Purcell, in the Ferrell Hospital. Mrs. Purcell has been receiving treatment in the hospital for the past ten days. Her condition is slightly improved. Her daughter left Friday returning to California accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Purcell who will be her guest for several days. The Purcells are all former residents of this city.

ELECTED TO HIGH OFFICE—

Mrs. George Guard of Equality was elected vice president of the Southern Illinois Conference of Women's Society of Christian Service at the annual meeting held in Union Methodist Church at Belleville, April 10.

Mrs. Guard formerly was president of Harrisburg District Women's Society. She succeeds Mrs. Harry Wells of Lawrenceville, who was elected to the office of president.

Stratton OKs Extradition of Bennie Bedwell

SPRINGFIELD, (U.P.) — An attorney for Edward L. (Bennie the Dishwasher) Bedwell said he will appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court if necessary to prevent the extradition of his client to Florida to face a rape charge.

Gov. William G. Stratton late Wednesday signed an extradition warrant for the removal of Bedwell, 21, once the chief suspect in the slaying of two teen-aged sisters in Chicago.

Stratton, in a brief statement, said "There is no legal defense against sending him back."

Bedwell, a skid row drifter, was accused in a Florida warrant of slaying a 13-year-old girl at De Land, Fla., in March, 1956, when he was working as a carnival roustabout.

Both the alleged rape victim and her mother came here from their home in Oak Hill, Fla., and identified Bedwell as the rapist.

Bedwell previously confessed and then denied debauching Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13, and leaving their naked bodies to freeze in a ditch.

He later was freed on the murder charge because of lack of evidence, but was re-arrested immediately on the Florida rape warrant.

U. S. Attorney Rules Against New Trial for Hodge

CHICAGO (U.P.) — U. S. Atty. Robert Ticken has thrown cold water on any hopes of ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge for a new trial.

"There is no possibility for Hodge to get a new trial," Ticken said Wednesday, "because in his original case he pleaded guilty."

Hodge had mentioned the possibility of a new trial during an interview with two investigators at Menard Prison Tuesday.

Ticken also said that Hodge's guilty plea to charges of misapplying federally insured monies prevented an appeal of his old trial and sentence.

Hodge was sentenced to 12 to 15 years for his more than 2½-million-dollar raid on the state treasury. Some of the embezzled loot has not yet been accounted for.

U. of I. Increases Student Tuition

CHICAGO (U.P.) — University of Illinois tuition for Illinois residents was increased today from $180 to $200 a year, starting next fall.

The university board of trustees approved the $20 increase upon the recommendation of University President David D. Henry.

The board previously had increased the tuition for out of state students from $400 to $550 a year, also effective Sept. 1, 1957.

If optional fees are included, the tuition for Illinois residents will go up from $201 to $221 a year this fall. Optional fees include expenditures for student athletic events and concerts.

In 1959, another increase of $40 a year for Illinois resident students is likely bringing tuition to $240 a year.

Find Garrison Not Guilty

Dennis, D. F. Rumsey, Joe Hill, Joe Hickman and Ralph Chissoer. "Gossiping tongues have tried to convict Garrison," he said, adding:

"If he didn't have a right to the money, the county can file a civil suit to recover it. As long as he thought that the money was his, he is not guilty of embezzlement."

Hearing Evidence Completed

After a day and a half was consumed in selecting a jury, the opening statements and all evidence in the case was completed in little more than an hour yesterday afternoon.

The jury hearing the case was composed of the following:

Lewis Brown, Earlene Wettaw, Pauline Hopkins, Helen Lyon and Bertha Hauser of Eldorado; J. O. Slayden and Provie Hearn of Carrier Mills; Mary Adelt of Mountaintop; Overton Hall of Brushy; Janie Gideumb of Independence; James Stauff of Raleigh; and Geraldine Porter of Reitor.

Following the opening statements by State's Attorney Wilson, the defense waived its opening remarks until just prior to introducing the defense testimony.

Stipulation Entered

Then a stipulation entered into by Wilson and Defense Attorneys Butler and Melton was admitted into the evidence and this cut decisively the period needed for testimony.

This stipulation admitted that the Saline County Board of Supervisors on Nov. 18, 1954, passed a budget appropriation ordinance in which $5,500 was appropriated for Garrison's salary for the fiscal year starting Dec. 1, 1954, but said there was no record of the board's passing any resolution or ordinance fixing the salary.

It admitted that from Dec. 1, 1954, to and including Sept. 14, 1955, Garrison wrote and cashed checks upon funds in his custody, designated by him as salary, in the amount of $6,374.75, and received the money; that on Sept. 14 he drew a check with the intent to convert the proceeds to his own use in the amount of $417 with the knowledge that he was in excess of the $5,500 appropriated for his salary.

Garrison Only Defense Witness

Donald J. Rice, member of the Belleville auditing firm, Rice and Bedel, which made a special audit of Garrison's books for the county board of supervisors, was the only witness for the prosecution.

Rice testified that a check to Garrison Sept. 8 put the salary amount he received at $416.75 over the appropriated $5,500.

Garrison himself was the only defense witness. He said he was beginning a new term—his third—Dec. 1, 1954, and that he had reason to believe he was entitled to draw the amount he had taken.

He said the statutes provide that counties the size of Saline can pay its clerk anywhere between $5,500 and $7,500 a year and that he had received opinions from a half dozen lawyers stating that since the board had set the salary by appropriation, and not by resolution or ordinance, that he could draw the maximum.

He declared he knew he had drawn over $5,500, that he intended to use the funds for his personal benefit, that he had made no effort to conceal the amounts taken, that the amounts were in the public record.

Lists Attorneys

He listed six attorneys who had advised him he could draw over the $5,500 appropriation as Saline County Judge Trafton Dennis, Atty. D. F. Rumsey, Atty. Joe M. Butler and Atty. Lloyd H. Melton of Harrisburg, and Atty. Joe Hill and Atty. Joe Hickman of Benton.

Upon cross-examination by Wilson, Garrison said that two of the six had been consulted after the checks in question had been written, and when asked why he had consulted so many, Garrison replied "I wanted to make sure."

When Wilson pointed out that the state's attorney was the legal adviser for county officers and asked if this officer had been consulted, Garrison replied he had not.

"Did you ever ask the county board to clarify the matter of your salary?" Wilson asked him.

"No," Garrison replied.

The original El Dorado was a non-existent city of fabulous wealth, supposedly located somewhere in South America.

Ex-Policeman Found Slain Near Prison

JOLIET, Ill. (U.P.) — Authorities today said a former Chicago policeman apparently was brutally tortured and strangled before his bullet-riddled body was found in a car near the state prison here.

The victim, Salvatore Moretti, 32, was found Wednesday stuffed in the trunk of an abandoned car along a country road. He was the brother of Michael Moretti, an ex-policeman serving a life term in Stateville Penitentiary here for the murder of a 15-year-old boy.

Police said the killing had all the marks of a gangland murder, including the grim twist of abandoning the body near the prison. They said the victim, a Chicago car salesman, was believed to have underworld connections.

Michael was charged with shooting and killing Arthur Gamino and another youth, Edward Salvi, 21, in a senseless murder spree. Michael claimed he shot in self-defense during an investigation, but he was found guilty of murdering Gamino and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Authorities at first thought the victim was Salvatore's twin, Vincent, a Chicago Park District policeman and owner of the abandoned car. However, Vincent was located later and said he had loaned one of his four cars to Salvatore.

The Moretti's had been powerful political figures on Chicago's west side until the 1951 murder trial. All six Moretti brothers and a sister are or had been on the public payroll in various capacities.

Three Face Murder Charges

EAST PEORIA, Ill. (U.P.) — Three young men faced murder charges today in the fatal shooting of Mackinaw town Marshal Charles Norris with the officer's own gun.

Held in Tazewell County jail were Wayne Lubitz, 18, Creve Couer, and Ken Swearingen, 23, Peoria. A third suspect, David Wurster, 23, Peoria, was under guard at St. Francis Hospital with a broken arm suffered in a motorcycle accident early Wednesday.

Sheriff Ray Crafton said Lubitz confessed to the Jan. 27 slaying Wednesday and led authorities to a place near Creve Couer where three guns were buried, including the marshal's gun.

Mrs. Ed Baker, 72,

Former Resident of Rhine

Community, Dies

Mrs. Nellie Baker, 72, of 3417 Oakwood avenue, Alton, died at St. Joseph's hospital in Alton at 7 a. m. Wednesday. She was the wife of Ed Baker and a former resident of the Rhine community near Eldorado, where there are many relatives. In addition to her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Melton Roberts of Vienna and Miss Ruth Baker of the family home; a son, Doyle Baker of Alton; a brother, Edgar Combs of Kalamazoo, Mich.; a sister, Mrs. Daisy Schoolcraft of Eldorado; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Martin's funeral home received the body at noon today and it will lie in state there until the funeral in the Rhine church at 2 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be in the Rhine church cemetery.

Rayburn Sees Jan. 1 Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Speaker Sam Rayburn today forecast a tax cut effective next Jan. 1.

Rayburn said in his opinion Congress will approve the cut either late this session or early next year. Rayburn made his comment in response to questions about President Eisenhower's suggestion today that Congress cut his requests for new appropriations.

Rayburn declined immediate comment on the President's proposal, which came in response to a request passed by the House on March 12 asking for suggestions on where to cut the President's record $71,800,000,000 spending plans for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Rayburn noted that the House already has cut $1,141,175,749 off appropriations requests it has considered so far. He said other cuts are still to be made.

"My opinion is that we will cut this budget enough to justify a tax cut, either this year or early next year," he said.

In either case, the cut would be geared to take effect on Jan. 1, Rayburn said.

Sala Found Guilty Of Desertion

POITIERS, France (U.P.) — Pvt. Vito Sala, 31, Brooklyn, who became a French Foreign Legion hero, was found guilty today of deserting his U. S. Army unit on a German battlefield 11 years ago. He was sentenced to five years' imprisonment at hard labor.

It took a 12-member general court-martial board only about an hour to find Sala guilty, despite his plea that he had been a victim of amnesia for most of the 11 years since he vanished in battle from the unit of the U. S. 100th Infantry Division near Heilbronn, Germany, in 1945.

Blame Sabotage For Plane Crash

LONDON (U.P.) — A Royal Air Force source today blamed sabotage as the "most likely cause" for the crash of a British transport plane at Aqaba, Jordan, with the loss of 25 lives Wednesday.

The 25 — 22 soldiers en route home for Easter and a crew of three — were killed when the Valletta transport crashed 10 minutes after taking off.

First reports indicated the plane was climbing away from the field in normal trim when it appeared to catch fire and explode.

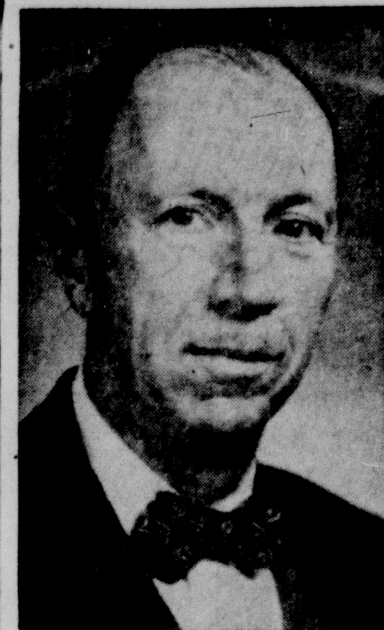

"Sabotage is the most likely cause," a source said.

Expect Construction On Metropolis Uranium Plant to Begin in June

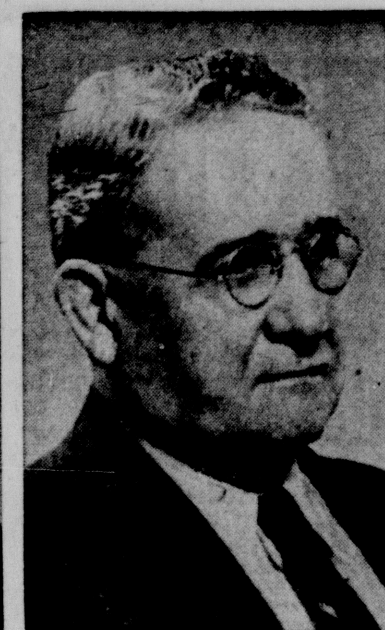

METROPOLIS, Ill. (U.P.) — Officials say initial construction will begin in June on a 13 1/2-million-dollar uranium salts plant here.

Officials of the Allied Chemical and Dye Co., New York, told the Metropolis Industrial Commission that general construction work is slated early in 1958.

Up to 700 men will be employed during construction. The plant, which will process uranium salts for the Atomic Energy Commission, will employ some 400 men when it is in production.

EDITORIAL SPEAKERS—Lowell Mason (left), Washington, D. ## Admits Sending Poisoned Cookies to Ex-Boy Friend, Wife

TAMPA Fla. (U.P.) — Mrs. Mary Arlene Jones, 37, pleaded guilty Wednesday to sending poisoned cookies to her "ex-boy-friend" and his wife. She said she just wanted to "make him good and sick."

U. S. District Judge William J. Barker sentenced Mrs. Jones to a "suitable" institution for an indefinite term after court officials testified she was "dangerous."

Mrs. Jones admitted she mailed a package of cookies containing rat and roach poison to Cliff Lee, an Orlando, Fla., cab driver, and his wife, Mrs. Jones claimed Lee was the father of one of her children. She said he ordered her out of his home when she sought aid from him.

A postal inspector said the poison would have killed anyone who ate the cookies. Lee became suspicious when he received them and took the cookies to authorities for testing.

Beta Kappa Chapter To Sell Easter Seal Lilies Saturday

The observance of National Crippled Children's Day sponsored by the Southern Illinois Association for the Crippled, Inc., in southern Illinois will be held in Harrisburg on Saturday, April 20. The Southern Illinois Association for the Crippled, Inc., joins some 1,655 affiliates of the National Society for Crippled Children and adults in the fourth annual observance set aside during the Easter Seal campaign to help raise funds for continuing and expanding crippled children's services in this community.

Mrs. Jeannette James, chairman of the Harrisburg Lily Parade, which will be held by the Beta Kappa chapter, Beta Sigma Phi of Harrisburg, reports that volunteer workers will be on the business streets all day Saturday selling white paper lilies, which are the symbol of the crippled children's organization, and are made by handicapped adults, employed by the Easter Seal Society.

Mrs. James reports that proceeds from the Lily sale go to supplement the Easter Seal campaign from which the crippled children's camp and the Easter Seal Therapy Center is financed.

All persons who have not contributed to the campaign for crippled children are urged to do so at this time.

Baptist Training Union Convention At Carbondale

The Illinois State Baptist Training Union convention will be held at the Walnut Street Baptist church in Carbondale April 25-26-27. The program is expected to attract 1,000 visitors.

Featured speakers will be Dr. Duke K. McCall of Louisville, Ky., Dr. J. E. Lambdin, T. U. leader of Southern Baptists who will address the convention twice, and Dr. Noel M. Taylor and E. I. Moore.

The Rev. Bert I. Cherry will be host pastor for the convention. Both the Thursday and Friday night sessions will open with the showing of a Broadman film. On Thursday night the film will be "Leisure for the Lord," the subject of which is a church recreation program. "The Choice" will be shown on Friday night and deals with the problem of drinking alcoholic beverages in America today.

Mrs. Agnes Pyland, leader of the Church Recreation department of the Baptist Sunday School Board, will be present to bring an address at the close of the film, "Leisure for the Lord." She will lead the conference Friday.

There will be 19 conferences Friday, one for each age group. General officers and Associational officers, as well as five special-interest meetings: music, church recreation, church library, Training Union posters and audio-visual aids.

Each session will feature special music which will include Dan C. Hall of the Music Department, Baptist Sunday School Board, Monty Knight of Zeigler, Billy Paul Ewell's quartet of Big Six Fine Association, the Chapel Singers of Southern Illinois College of the Bible and boys' and men's quartets of University Baptist church. Ernestine Taylor and Gail Bieman will accompany the music of the convention.

Upon discovering Jamaica in 1494, Columbus named it Saint Jago, but the original name Jamaica soon re-established itself.

Easter Sunrise Service At Veterans Haven

Bona Fide Federation Plans Southern Illinois Meeting at Carbondale

The Bethel A. M. E. church dining room was the scene of the pre-Easter luncheon of the Bona Fide federation club, Tuesday. The dining room was decorated in flag colors and Easter appointments.

other scholastic honors.

Music for the service will be furnished by the a capella choir of the Murphysboro high school under the direction of William F. Wetherington.

The purpose of the meeting was the planning of the southern Illinois district meeting to be held in Carbondale on April 26 and 27. Mrs. Verda North, president, will represent the Bona Fide club at this district meeting. Donations were made to the state scholarship fund and the cancer drive. The president thanked the members who contributed to the success of the Tuesday meeting.

Refreshments of chicken salad, crackers, potato chips, olives, tea and home-made sherbert were served to those attending.

Ex-Yankee Athletics Win Second in Row Over Tigers To Top American League

By United Press
Those ex-Yankees masquerading as the Kansas City Athletics occupy first place in the American League today—and they've done their old teammates a big favor, to boot, by getting the Detroit Tigers off to a poor start.

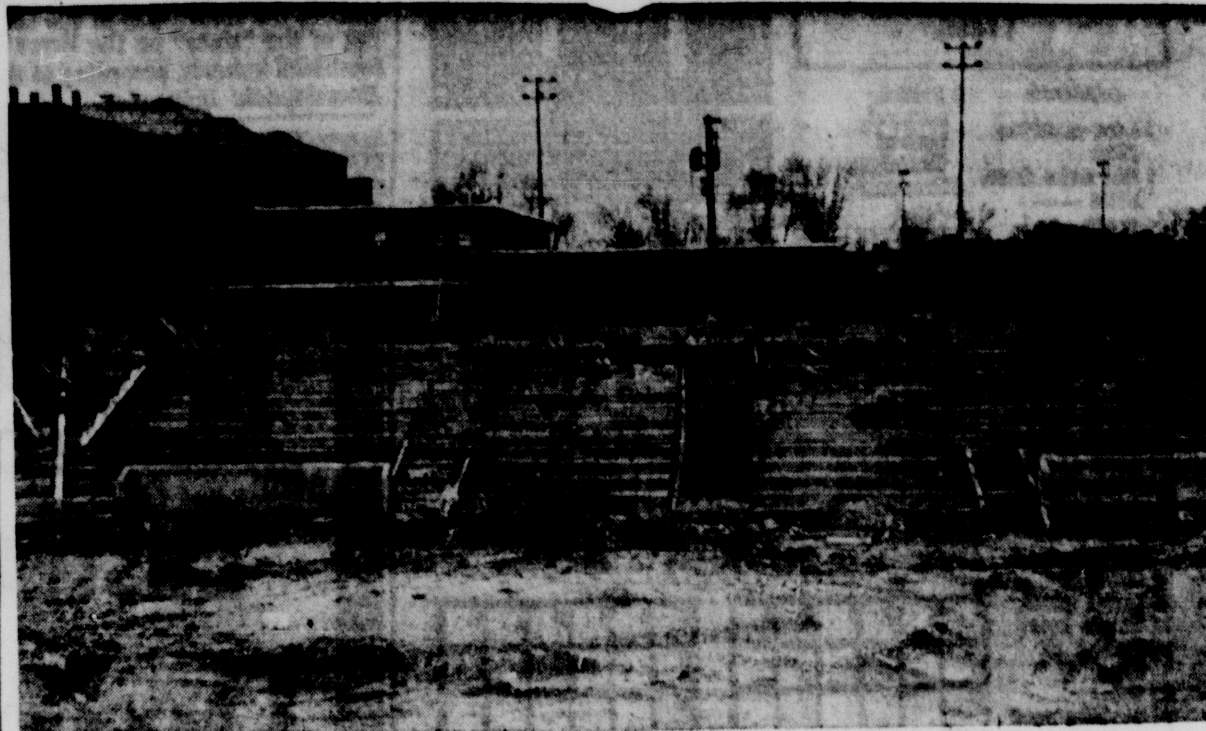

The Athletics made it two in a row over the Tigers, 5-4, in the only major league game played Wednesday and for the second straight day an ex-Yankee did the honors. Tom Morgan stopped the Tigers on four hits in Tuesday's opener and ex-Yankee farmhand Wally Burnette turned in 5-1-3 scoreless relief innings Wednesday to pick up the victory.

Bob Cerv, still another ex-Yankee, started the Athletics' winning fourth inning rally when he blasted a triple and he scored the game's decisive run on Joe DeMaestri's single. Burnette, who took over the mound in the top of the fourth when the Tigers tied the score at 4-4, went the rest of the way allowing only two hits.

Ray Boone doubled home three runs for the Tigers in the first inning and scored their fourth run on Duke Maas' single in the fourth while Hector Lopez and Harry Simpson homered for the Athletics.

Rain washed out the other two scheduled games—St. Louis at Cincinnati and New York at Pittsburgh—but there'll be more "opening day fanfare" today at the seven "secondary openers." These find New York at Boston, Kansas City at Chicago, Cleveland at Detroit and Baltimore at Washington (night) in the A. L. and Pittsburgh at Brooklyn, Philadelphia at New York, Cincinnati at Milwaukee and Chicago at St. Louis (night) in the N. L.

THE ELDORADO TOWNSHIP HIGH school building program is progressing satisfactorily despite the wet weather and building contractors have promised the buildings to be ready for occupancy by Sept. 1, barring unforeseen delays. Concrete for the seats in the gymnasium, a bowl type affair, has been poured and laying of brick and block for the walls has been started. The gym is being built east of the present high school properties, between Saline Avenue and Main street. Other building, in the background, is adjacent to the old gymnasium, running north along the east side of the football field. The buildings will provide for physical education, industrial arts, agriculture and music. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Economy Run In Final Lap

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (U.P.)—The decision on which are America's most economical 1957 automobiles will be reached here today along with an official conclusion that could settle the squabble over whether men or women are better drivers.

Winding up the fourth and final lap of the 1,568-mile Mobilgas Economy Run that terminates here, the Chrysler family of automobiles led in all classes—low price, low medium, upper medium and high price—among the fifteen different models entered by America's motor car industry.

In the contest to decide whether women can outdrive men and get better gasoline mileage, the ladies trailed the males as the 23 cars took to the road in Ogden, Utah, for the 299.1 mile trip to this mountain resort.

Sweepstakes leader at the three-quarter post at Ogden was—as it had been since the start—Mel Alsbury Jr., driving an Imperial Crown. He turned in a 63.9099 ton-mile-per-gallon average to substantially lead his nearest runner-up, his mother, Mrs. Mildred Alsbury. Alsbury was No. 1 man in Class D, high price.

Leaders in the other three classes at the three-fourths mark: Class A low price—Mary Davis, Plymouth Belvedere 8. Class B low medium—William J. Losher, Dodge Coronet "500." Class C upper medium—George Alsbury, Chrysler Saratoga.

The Rare Adventure by BERNARD FERGUSON

Cop. 1934 by Bernard Edward Ferguson. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

I
On the night of Aug. 12, Colonel Allan Kaid and his guests sat at dinner in the long, low dining room of the House of Kaid in Ayrshire. The ruins of the old castle, abandoned at the end of the seventeenth century, can still be seen perched on a high spur above the Water of Tig; the present house, which replaced it, lies half a mile farther downstream, snug in the woods of oak and beech which cushion it against the bare hills above the little valley.

Allan sipped his claret and looked round at his guests. There was his wife, Mollie's brother, George Buchanan in the Regiment; there were Aymer and Janet Kennedy of Balmedie, their next-door neighbors from a little way up the Stinch, and a guest of the Kennedy's, James Stewart, some sort of university professor. The seventh chair was occupied by Allan's elder son Patrick, in his first year at Eton; Hew the youngster was in bed upstairs.

"Where are you thinking of going?" asked Stewart.

Allan had been a little apprehensive when he heard that the guest whom Aymer was bringing to shoot was a don; but Stewart had proved to be an excellent shot and a likable guest, and Allan had come to the conclusion that he was not only human but positively a good fellow.

"Abroad, somewhere; we haven't decided yet. I was thinking of Syria, or Morocco, perhaps. . . . Tell me, Aymer said you were a professor. Just what do you profess?"

"I'm scarcely a professor," said Stewart. "I'm much more humble—a mere lecturer."

"What in?"

"In Arabic."

"Oh, good," said Mollie, innocently. "Then you can have a nice talk with Allan; he speaks Arabic like a native."

"It was a good many years since Allan's weather-beaten face had achieved a blush, but he came near to blushing now. For years he had allowed it to be inferred in the bosom of his family that he spoke Arabic like a sort of Sandy Arbuthnot, able at will to pass himself off as a Haj in any Oriental city or environment."

"Only kitchen Arabic, you know," he said, with unusual modesty. "I was in the Transjordan Frontier Force for a couple of years."

"Then you can probably make yourself understood better than I can," said Stewart. "I'm one of those useless creatures who spend their lives immersed in classical Arabic."

"What you know about the Kaid?" asked Allan, intrigued.

"I've always been interested in emigrants and exiles, and particularly in renegades, if I may use the expression about a forebear of yours."

"I don't see why not," said Allan; "he was one. He was a younger brother of that chap in the corner there," and he indicated the picture of a man in a high periwig, dressed in conventional armor, who looked over his shoulder obliquely at the dinner table. "He got into trouble politically at the end of the seventeenth century. He got involved with James the Second or Seventh or whatever you like to call him, and fought on his side at the Battle of the Boyne. After that he disappeared for a few years, and then bobbed up again as a Barbary pirate—a corsair. He was still going strong in the seventeenth thirties, because he came here once."

"He must have been getting on by then," said Aymer Kennedy.

"Say the Kaid was 20 at the Battle of the Boyne. Born 1668, then; so 31 at the turn of the century, and he came here in 1737; that makes him, let's see—68, isn't it?"

"A ripe old age for those days," said Aymer.

Patrick had appeared with a stiff, grayish sheet of paper, which he put into his father's hands. Allan spread it out on the table, and began to read it.

The Tuesday of last week being the 27th of October, 1737 at one o'clock at night came here my Uncle my Fathers youngest Brother of whom no Intelligence had been heard for many years past.

He arriv'd one hour after midnight very secretly having ridden up from Port Patrick by way of Glen App with Horses qch he had hired and qch were much weary'd, and roud'd me by knocking at my chamber Window. He would have me believe that he had been for many years in the Service of the Bey of Tunis and been by him appointed Governor of one Island off the said Bey's coasts. But (said he) the Bey had bubb'd him and was encroaching upon his jurisdiction. He alleg'd that if he would consent to furnish him with Money he would make himself the richest of all the Captains upon the Barbary Coast and would restore me 10 times over whatever I might venture in his wicked Enterprises.

He was a coarse Rascal and when I enquir'd as to his Christian Principles he laugh'd and confess'd that he had been many years a Turk.

For three days I kept him hid here in Larg while he ran thro' the best of what was in my Cellar and while I was in a dread lest he should be found here or his presence known. At last finding that there was nothing to be got from me, he went his Way swearing with horrid Imprecations, that there would always be Enmity between our Family and that Branch of it qch he had begotten God knows on what heathen or Turkish Concubines in these Barbarous Parts wherein he had mast his Lot.

To conclude with this unhappy Affair, I fear that two young men from the parochin of Ballantrae, one McKissack and one Young, are gone off wt. my Uncle, and there is also a Report that a girl Elizabeth McMeekan who was bound along the Shore to meet her lover on the Links of Balig has disappeared.

"That's all," said Allan. "But tell me, Stewart: what do you know about our Kaid?"

"Not a lot; but he's quite a legend in Tunisia, and I heard something of him and others when I was working in Tunis itself, two or three winters ago. There were quite a number of such people, you know. You've probably heard of Kaid Maclean in Morocco; he only died 40 years or so ago, a Maclean of Drum by origin. Then there was Private Keith of the Seaforth Highlanders; Thomas Keith was taken prisoner in Egypt, took service with the enemy, and became a big shot under Mahomet Ali; he called himself Ibrahim Ag-ha, and was a really good fighting general, and Governor of Medina in the year of Waterloo. Then William Lithgow the great Scotch traveler in the early part of the seventeenth century mentions a Captain Ward—probably Ward—another renegade, who was kind to Lithgow in Tunis in about the sixteen twenties."

"Good idea!" Allan cried. "That's where we'll go in October! Hunt the Kaid! My dear chap, you must remember the name of the place."

They had left Marseilles two mornings before in sheets of rain; and now, at 8 o'clock on a morning of early October, it was already hot. Allan was wearing, with some difficulty, a cotton suit which had been made for him in Palestine 10 years earlier, and which he had been looking forward to wearing again ever since he had been ordered abroad for the winter. When the moment came, however, he was unusually bashful, and Mollie had had to push him out of their cabin into the passage, much as a shy boy has to be pushed into a fancy-dress children's party. But by now he was so excited at finding himself abroad once more—"properly abroad, none of your France," as he put it—that he was himself again.

At the hotel they had found a note from the Consul-General, asking Allan to come to see him at his convenience; and they discovered also that M. Le Bouteiller had been to call; so at 4 o'clock when the shops began to open, Allan sallied out to begin what he called the Kaid hunt. The Consul-General was a little brown man of enormous charm, who knew many of Allan's old haunts and indeed friends.

Allan told him his story at some length.

"... And all that remains now, after I have seen this fellow Le Bouteiller, and got the best briefing I can, is to get to Seknou and poke around. I don't suppose I'll find anything, but it looks a nice place, and it sounds a nice place, and there's always a chance of a stroke of luck."

"That's as exciting a quest as I've heard for a long time," said the Consul-General, "and I envy you having such disreputable forebears. Mine only go back three generations, and they're quite impeccable, I'm sorry to say. But I must warn you: there's quite a considerable snag to your plans."

"What?" said Allan, pulling up short.

"There's trouble in Seknou."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

New Radio Program

To Feature Stories

On Social Security

"The Unforeseen," a series of radio programs featuring Raymond Massey and some of the nine million people who are receiving old-age or survivors insurance benefits under the social security law, will be presented by radio station WEBQ each Monday at 1:45 p. m. beginning April 22.

E. Bishop Hill, social security district manager, pointed out that the dramatic stories presented on these programs come from all over the United States. They are told by the people who lived them, with the assistance of Mr. Massey, noted film and stage star.

The stories contain information of importance to every American family—information that may help safeguard the family's future when it is faced by "The Unforeseen."

One of the oldest means of predicting the future was in the reading of the "signs" on the livers of sacrificial animals, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.
